

Managed Services for Salesforce

Optimize Salesforce for your business and maximize ROI

Your managed services program should feel less like “ticket taking” and more like a strategic operating model for Salesforce to keep the platform stable, current, and continuously improving. Argano Managed Services is an ongoing, proactive way to operate, optimize, and evolve your Salesforce Org with access to certified experts beyond basic break/fix support.

We cover the full spectrum of Salesforce needs from general support such as release readiness, issue management, upgrades/migrations, and change management to functional services such as optimization, enhancements, point-and-click configuration, documentation/training, and adoption improvements. This approach creates an intentional cadence of improvements that keeps Salesforce aligned with dynamic business objectives.

On the technical and operational side, we deliver development and admin services including best practices, integrations, app deployments, custom development and automation, UI/UX personalization, and ongoing governance through reporting/dashboard management, user and data administration, analytics, and performance monitoring.
